Descriptions to Determine NM Coalition for Healthcare Value Membership Dues Designation

Voting Members

Employers:

Employers are generally considered “health purchasers” and they are voting members. They can be public or private companies, corporations, employer/trust funds, associations, non-profits (academic, research, voluntary organizations), and government agencies that provide health insurance benefits in New Mexico to their employees, dependents, retirees and others. In general, employers are not involved in healthcare delivery, services, health insurance, or associated with the healthcare industry. Dues are paid annually, with pro-rating if a group becomes a member part way through the year.

Health Plans:

This stakeholder group will include health plans and third-party administrators doing business in the state of New Mexico.

Associations:

Associations, such as the Society for Human Resource Managers (SHRM), chambers of commerce, and the like, that represent specific employer or personnel groups, non-profits, consumer- or community-based organizations interested in, advocating and/or working for health system improvement and affordability.

Health Providers/Health Support Organizations:

This stakeholder group includes health providers and/or health support organizations that have a commercial interest in and/or are involved in providing healthcare products or services. These members can include medical/provider offices, hospitals, laboratories, long-term care facilities, and health provider groups. Membership dues are determined on a sliding scale by the number of employees they have.

Non-Voting Affiliate Members:

Affiliate members are those from the Pharmaceutical industry (including Pharmacy Benefit Management organizations), and Medical Device Makers, insurance brokers, vendors and benefits consulting organizations or single health benefit consultant.
